FARMERS ELECT BOGGS TO HEAD NEW CROP PLAN

Chairman of Recent AAA Work Chosen to Direct Soil Conservation ORGANIZATION COMPLETE Various Township Chairmen to Attend April 14 Meeting in Columbus

Pickaway-co farmers, pleased with the local AAA administration, have named John G. Boggs, W. Union-st, farmer and elevator operator, as county president under the new soil conservation program. The election occurred at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the Farm Bureau offices. Mr. Boggs was county chairman under the AAA program. Marvin G. Steele, Washington-twp, was chosen vice president. Wilbur Brinker, Walnut-twp, the third member of the county committee and Frank Beatty, Muhlenberg-twp, alternate. Mrs. Dorothy R. Gerhardt was elected secretary and treasurer.

Officers of the county organization were named by the township chairmen elected at the community meetings held for the explanation of the new program. These chairmen act as the directors of the county organization. The county committee will attend a meeting in Columbus April 14 to obtain additional information for carrying out the program. Following this meeting the 42 township chairmen will be instructed concerning the program work sheets and application blanks in the districts they represent.

MRS. WOLF DIES AT 64; SERVICE SUNDAY AT 1:30

Mayor Planning Cannery To Alleviate Relief Task

Graham to Seek Empty Lots for Garden Purposes to Carry Many Families Through Winter of 1936-37
After being faced with an unsolved problem during the winter in furnishing aid to needy persons with city funds depleted, Mayor W. J. Graham was laying the groundwork Friday for a plan he hopes will prevent a similar situation next winter. He expects to ask residents who own vacant lots, in or near the city, to "loan" them to needy residents for gardens this summer. He believes satisfactory arrangements can be worked out between the owners and gardeners on a "crop share" basis.

CHILLICOTHEAN NAMED ASSISTANT ROAD CHIEF

COLUMBUS, April 10.—(UP)—State Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., today announced the promotion of G. M. Anderson, Chillicothe, present chief of highway maintenance, to the vacated position of assistant highway director. Anderson will succeed Carl G. Wahl, Defiance, who was named director of public works upon the death of T. S. Brindle, of Ashland. Advanced to Anderson's position was Fred L. Biechele, New Philadelphia, division engineer for division No. 11, with headquarters at New Philadelphia.

More Bricks Needed For Design Job

Change Made in Size of Big Circle; "Spokes" of Wheel Add to Need

WPA workmen were laying the historical design in the paving of Court and Main-st intersection Friday. It was outlined shortly before noon by David Courtwright, city engineer. Workmen are busy removing the regular bricks and installing the buff blocks being purchased through Mayor W. J. Graham's "buy a brick" campaign. A change in the size of the design was announced by Mr. Courtwright. The first plans called for a circle 40 feet in diameter with a four foot "rim." It has been enlarged to 50 feet and the "rim" and "spokes", representing the old streets, will be three and a half feet wide. The inside circle or "hub" will be 20 feet in diameter and the octagon, nine feet in diameter. The octagon represents the old courthouse and the numerals "1815" will be placed in the center. Engineers estimate about 2,000 more bricks will be needed to completely finish the design. The original estimate for bricks was based on designs not including the eight "spokes" representing the old streets. Mayor Graham said he would arrange to have the additional bricks here by Monday noon and he would spur his campaign for additional funds. Concrete work on the street at the intersection of Watt-st where the old tracks of the street car switches were removed was completed Friday.

BRICKER BRIGGS DAVIS' ACTION

Official Charges Alleged Campaign "Shakedown"

Ray W. Davis, Pickaway-co prosecuting attorney, received a communication Friday from Attorney General John W. Bricker urging him to use his power to investigate reported "shakedowns" in solicitation of funds for campaign purposes from state employees working under the civil service law. The letter was not a personal one to the prosecutor, but a copy of a communication sent by the Attorney General to the state Civil Service Commission, Thursday, urging action. All Ohio prosecutors received similar requests. Mr. Bricker charges the administration is seeking contributions, chiefly from the highway department, to finance the primary and general election.

PRIZE SALMON WINS CATCHER BIG PRICE

BANGOR, Me., April 10.—(UP)—It took Charles Bissell of Brewer 30 minutes to land an 11½ pound salmon from the famous pool on the Penobscot river a mile above here. But the pastime was worth $1.15 per minute. A local market bought the silver-sided beauty from Bissell for $34.50, or $3 per pound yesterday. According to tradition, the salmon, first catch at the pool since the season opened nine days ago, will be purchased by the Bangor Chamber of Commerce and sent to President Roosevelt.

PICKAWAY-CO SCHOOLS CONTINUE IN SESSION

While Circleville school children were enjoying a two day vacation this week, pupils of all county schools were in class Friday. George McDowell, superintendent of county schools, said Friday no districts had decided to close for the holiday. District boards of education establish the holidays to be observed.

GOVERNOR FREES 6 SENTENCED IN STRIKE ASSAULT

Easter Clemency Given Godman C. Workers After Serving Five Months

SEVENTH IS REFUSED
George Hensel, Trucker, Beaten for Refusal to Take Part in Walkout

COLUMBUS, April 10.—In an Easter action of clemency, Governor Martin L. Davey today commuted sentences of six of the seven former workers of the Lancaster plant of the H. C. Godman Shoe Co., who were sentenced to two state institutions on assault charges. The action of the governor commuted their sentences at the state penitentiary and the Mansfield reformatory to five months. The actual time they had served to perfect their immediate release.

Attacked Trucker

They were arrested in Vinton-co and charged with attacking George Hensel, a non-striking truck driver in a case which was carried through all the courts to the Ohio supreme court which refused finally to set aside their sentence. The governor said it was his belief the men had been "punished sufficiently." He said also the state parole board had recommended commutation of the sentences.

Eastman to Remain

Harold Eastman, Columbus, the seventh member of the former worker group, was not pardoned. The governor based his refusal to extend clemency to Eastman on the ground that he was the actual leader of the strike disorder.

GOVERNOR SIGNS 11 STATE BILLS

Social Security Measures Lead Approved Issues
COLUMBUS, April 10.—(UP)—Governor Davey today signed 11 bills, three of them in connection with the state-federal Social Security program. The Social Security bills call for the appropriation of $143,000 for aid to crippled children and child welfare services, appropriation of $1,240,000 for aid in payment of mothers' and dependent children pensions, and adjustment of the Ohio Blind Relief program to conform with provisions of the Federal Social Security act. BOY, 10, RESCUED FROM BOG, FACES ILLNESS THREAT

JACKSON, Mich., April 10.—(UP)—The danger of pneumonia today faced Junior Wyatt, 10, who was rescued from a bog near Holt-on mill pond by police and firemen who pulled him to safety just as he was about to slip under the treacherous ooze. A passerby, attracted by the boy's cries late yesterday telephoned police from a nearby railroad tower. Police and firemen arrived at the bog to find only the boy's head and one arm free of the muck. Fireman Herbert Crawford, supporting himself on a plank and with the aid of a small oil drum, wiggled across the bog. After repeated efforts, he pulled Junior out of the muck and then himself slipped from the board. By means of a life line both were pulled to dry ground. Junior said he had fallen into the bog when he attempted to walk a log across the pond. Efforts to free himself only carried him deeper. He was taken to Foote hospital suffering from exposure. Today attaches said they were taking every precaution to fight off pneumonia, which may be the result of Junior's experience in the cold bog.

CROWDS PRESENT FOR COMMUNION RITES THURSDAY

Great crowds attended Circleville church Holy Week exercises Thursday evening when Holy Communion was conducted in nearly all. This evening's highlight will be the oratorio, "The Holy City" by Gaul, presented by the Presbyterian choir starting at 7:45 o'clock. Carlisle Moffitt directs the choir. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke is the organist. Sunday evening, two cantatas are scheduled with the First Methodist and United Brethren choirs appearing in the respective churches at 7:30 o'clock. Complete programs for Sunday's observance of Easter will appear in Saturday's Herald.

MAN, WOMAN CONVICTED OF JUVENILE CHARGES

Mrs. Evelyn Heskett, 27, was given a suspended sentence of 60 days in the county jail, and Homer Stewart, 35, a term of three months in the Cincinnati workhouse Friday by Judge C. C. Young in juvenile court. They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of six Heskett children. Mrs. Heskett's sentence was suspended so she could care for the children. A probation was asked, but Judge Young said the matter had not been definitely settled. Both denied the charge in juvenile court Thursday afternoon, and stood trial. The charge was filed by W. F. Heskett, father of the children. The Heskett and Stewart reside near Pherson.

ROME, April 10.—(UP)—Ethiopian airplanes blasted Italian towns today, Italian soldiers pressed their way toward Dessye, and Italians at home talked about the possibility of war in Europe. The principal attack was directed against Dessye, 200 miles away northward to the Italian Harar area. It was said, while Italian left wing was attacking a flanking movement up the river valley. It was assumed that the attack means that the Italian drive for Jijiga and Harar, and Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway, started. Warlike Italian. Ethiopian airplane attacks the warplanes were reported that reported Italian attacks a period of four days was repulsed.

TURNER ADVISES ROAD TRANSFER

Five County Highways Expected to Be Added By State
Recommendations that five county roads, covering about 55 miles, be transferred to the state highway system will be made to John J. Jaster, Jr., director of highways, by F. W. Turner of Washington C. H., chief division engineer.

XENIA CONTINUES EFFORT TO MAKE RELIEFERS WORK

XENIA, April 10.—(UP)—A second test of Xenia's new "work or jail" ultimatum to idle employables on direct relief rolls was planned today. Notices were mailed to a second group of 70 persons, informing them they have been certified by the Greene-co relief bureau to work out relief benefits, and ordering them to report Monday for work assignments. They will be credited at the rate of 40 cents an hour. Only 17 of the first group of 75 employables responded to notices to report Wednesday. Of this number, 10 claimed exemption because of employment elsewhere. This claim was accepted as an excuse as long as they are gainfully employed. After a check is made on compliance with the notices, officials said non-workers would be prosecuted. Court citations will be issued under the city's new vagrancy ordinance, which provides fines and workhouse sentences.

MRS. SALLIE JENNINGS IS DEAD IN COLUMBUS

Mrs. Sallie Jennings, 74, sister of Mrs. John Staiger, E. Main-st, died Thursday at 6 p. m. in Columbus. The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Born Funeral home. Mrs. Jennings was a native of Circleville, a daughter of Lewis and Mary Palm. Her husband, Harry, who preceded her in death, was also a Circleville native. Besides her sister, Mrs. Jennings is survived by another sister, Mrs. Mary Gutches of Columbus, two sons, Robert and Howard, both of Detroit, and a grandchild. The Jennings family removed to Columbus 35 years ago.

JEWISH SCHOOL CHILDREN SEGREGATED BY GERMANS

BERLIN, April 10.—(UP)—Julius Streicher, Germany's chief Jew biter, was able to boast of a new victory today. It was announced that Nuremberg, his political stronghold, would be the first city to segregate Jewish children coming from their "Aryan" schools. Beginning with the next term, Jewish children will be bidden to attend ordinary schools and must be educated in Jewish cases.

TURNER ADVISES ROAD TRANSFER

Five County Highways Expected to Be Added By State

Recommendations that five county roads, covering about 55 miles, be transferred to the state highway system will be made to John J. Jaster, Jr., director of highways, by F. W. Turner of Washington C. H., chief division engineer. Hearings on the proposed transfer of the roads from the county system were held Thursday in the common pleas court by Mr. Turner. No organized protests were entered. Few farmers attended the hearings and the questions they asked largely involved fences. The roads are: Harrisburg-Commercial Point road, South Bloomfield-Five Points road, Ashville-Lockbourne road, Williamsport-Chillicothe road in Pickaway-co, and the Logan Elm-Kingston road.

OPEN LETTERS

TO THE MAYOR

YOUR HONOR: How would you like to increase the amount in the city treasury by $50 or more — and do it all in one day? Station an officer at Pickaway and Watt and impose a fine of $1 on each violator of the Pickaway-st stop sign. Autos traveling on Pickaway-st at Watt seldomly obey the stop signal although some cars slow down a degree. Many drivers pass Watt, which is practically "blind" on all four corners, at a terrific rate of speed. Something should be done about this. You might check this corner yourself, then try out the above suggestion or substitute a better one that will bring the desired results.

CIRCUITEER

TO BIRD DOG CLUB MEMBERS

GENTLEMEN: Your aristocrats of dogdom will go on parade Saturday and Sunday on the Immell farm. I have spoken to the weatherman urging fair skies. Few residents realize the enjoyment they could receive by attending one of your trials. This trial, your third, promises to bring the finest array of entries ever exhibited in this county. You are to be congratulated on the steady strides you have made in building up your club, making the Circleville trials among the best in central Ohio.

TO ANY CIVIC ORGANIZATION

CITIZENS: Arbor Day will be celebrated April 17 with appropriate exercises in all county and city schools. So far no plans have been made by a civic organization to celebrate the occasion. Circleville has long held a reputation for having beautiful trees forming archways over her many streets. Some of these trees are growing old and should be replaced. It would be a splendid movement for a civic organization to support.

CIRCUITEER

TO ALL CITIZENS

FRIENDS: It is the duty of every Circleville man, woman and child to attend church services Easter Sunday. There is no time of the year so significant as the Easter season. Widespread religious observance of Easter prevents in great degree the perversion of its significance so common in the celebration of some other red-letter days in the calendar which, originated in patriotic or other sentimental impulses, have become largely dedicated to harmless, but irrelevant outdoor activities. The churches exert an influence which manages to hold the Easter celebration largely to its true note—rejoicing in rebirth.

Spring infallibly repeats its miracle. The world is always the better for its recurrence. There are people who view mundane events through blue glasses and feel that a doomed civilization, torn by international dissensions, is nearing its end. They hold that human ingenuity is steadily perverting its powers to the accomplishment of coming destruction. These, and the less pessimistic, need the stimulus that Easter brings to all who search history and their own hearts for invigorating truth.

The world cannot go mad so long as it holds to the counsels of religion and of its divinely implanted instincts. Decadence is followed by fertilization and fructification. Nature teaches its lesson; Easter urges humans to reflect upon it. The inspiration of this season is indispensable to progress, growth, improvement. It is well that the rejoicing with which we celebrate rebirth has its undertones of solemnity appropriate to the significance of the occasion.

TO WILLIAM LUTZ

DEAR BILLY: You did something this week of which you can be proud. When the design in the street paving is finished at Court and Main-sts you can say: "The design for that marking was my idea." As you become older you can look back with a pleasant memory that you were only 13 years of age when you thought of the clever design, chosen from forty entered in a contest. The design is a good one. It will give visitors to the city an idea as to how Circleville was named.

CIRCUITEER

TO WPA OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: I realize you have had many delays on the Court-st project due to weather conditions, but you should consider the residents and business places along the street. Please try to keep down the "dust storms." After you remove the bricks and sand bed and permit traffic to run over the concrete base, the dust rolls in billows. A slight breeze sends it into homes and business places and into the eyes of pedestrians. A light treatment of calcium chloride would prevent this nuisance and would in no way hinder your work. Why have such a condition when it can be easily corrected.

CIRCUITEER

TO CIRCLEVILLE RESIDENTS

DEAR FOLK: Through the efforts of Mayor W. J. Graham and a group of interested citizens, Circleville will have a historical design in the Main and Court-st intersection. This splendid movement must be financed. It is the duty of every citizen, young or old, to contribute toward the "buy a brick" campaign being conducted through local business establishments.

THE CAMDEN RUBY MURDER

by ADAM-BLISS

COPYRIGHT-RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Mr. Van Every, an actress, is found murdered in the home of Don Van Every, a collector of rare jewels, with a sharp needle-like instrument at the base of her brain. The only person in the room at the time of the murder was Van Every, who she had just met, and Gary Magan, an old friend of hers and an acquaintance of Van Every. Against his wishes, she had been wearing Van Every's famous Camden ruby, which he described as a "murder stone," as he recounted its gruesome history to his audience of two. Detective Keyes questions Magan, Van Every, the latter's niece, Joyce, who lives in the house, and her elderly companion, Laura Randall. Magan, who is anxious to help solve the murder, learns from Margalo's maid that a Roy Barrimore has called on the dead actress frequently. Magan then goes to Detective Keyes and further questioning. The detective calls in Allen Foster, Joyce's fiance, for questioning. Keyes and Magan learn that Foster at one time was in love with the dead actress. Laura Randall calls on Detective Keyes to volunteer some information.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 17

"MR. VAN EVERY evidently has no sympathy with Joyce's working ambitions," observed Keyes. "She'll break him down yet about going to business college," said Laura Randall. "I know she will. In the end she always gets what she wants. Now, he's against it, also the working idea she has. I can't see why a girl who has everything in the world could possibly want to work. Girls weren't like that in my day."

"Mr. Van Every approves of the engagement between Foster and his niece," "Very much so, much to my grief. I have begged him many times to stop it. Wait at least until Miss Joyce is a little older." "I thought I could see Van Every's attitude. Anything to settle Joyce. For she must be, as Miss Randall kept insisting, a hard girl to handle. The job angle—it seemed rather silly of Van Every to thwart. Girls were different these days. And if Joyce wanted to work, earn her own living, it was only right to let her try."

"Then, Mr. Keyes," Miss Randall went on, "those Chinamen in the house. That queer, soon. I don't trust him. I don't, and never will. He snoops around. Pries. I wouldn't be surprised if he was the one that murdered Miss Younger. I don't trust him, and I know, Captain Keyes."

"Why?" "Oh, I can't just explain. He walks around the house so quietly. You can't ever hear him. Even I can't. And he never talks. If he does, it's only in a low, hoarse, raspy voice. I can't see him, or hear him, or talk to him."

"No, I didn't, but I've no doubt that he was there. I don't see why an intelligent man like Mr. Van Every can have him around. You'd think, knowing Mr. Van Every, he'd have done something to get rid of him. I've told this to Mr. Van Every many times, and he only smiles. Never agrees to get a new household of servants."

"How did you happen to find your place in the household?" "I answered an ad of Mr. Van Every's two years ago. He says me well—and I keep my eyes shut about certain things, for, much as I like Mr. Van Every, there are things about him I cannot approve."

"What are they, Miss Randall?" "Her lips show a straight line, and her eyes narrowed. I would have kept this to myself for two years, and I don't intend to tell it now."

"How did you find out—this secret?" "Over the telephone. Oh—I might as well tell you, Captain Keyes. I see that. It may help you solve this case. She's nervous and again looked at the door."

"No one will find out where this came from," Keyes said kindly. "I hope not," she sighed. "I've kept it for two years, never even told Miss Joyce. Mr. Van Every has a woman friend in whom he is interested. There was something triumphant about the way she made this announcement. For the first time, she settled back in her chair, and rested her back."

"Who is she?" "A woman named Bryce. Edith Bryce. Soon is the only other person in the house who knows of her. At least that's what I think. Mr. Van Every is very careful about Mrs. Bryce—probably on account of Joyce. I know he doesn't want Joyce to know that he is in love at his advanced age."

"You are sure he is in love with Mrs. Bryce?" "I'm quite sure. By accident when I had been in the house a few weeks I heard him talk to her over the telephone. And I found out."

"I thought Keyes was going to ask how she had found out but he didn't. I smiled. Certainly nothing went on in Van Every's house that Laura Randall didn't know. I wondered then why Van Every kept her on. He must know her ferreting ways. I suppose they amused him. And she might be the ideal companion for Joyce."

"Have you ever seen Mrs. Bryce?" "I saw her once on the street. With that she gave Keyes the address of the woman. He carefully made a note of it."

"Now Miss Randall," he continued, "I want you to do something for me. Anything you see at the house that is suspicious, will you phone me? Or better yet, come here to see me."

"I will, Captain Keyes. Glad to." She arose slowly and opened her mouth as if she still had something more to say. She was going through the door Keyes had opened for her before she said it. "I think, Captain Keyes—I think that you should take the ruby out of the house. Put it in a bank somewhere. It isn't safe there—for any of us—with the ruby about."

"You're not afraid, Miss Randall?" "No, but I'd feel safer if it were gone."

"I'll do my best." "Thank you, Mrs. Bryce—knows something about the ruby?" "Yes, I do. I saw it through the anteroom and open that door. Then she was gone. Keyes came back and said, 'Peculiar woman,' he said."

"I'll solve the mystery if anyone does. Did you know Van Every was here?" "No, I didn't. I haven't seen him for years."

Keyes started to look over some papers on his desk and I sat musing in my chair. Who would have thought that a casual acquaintance five years ago would bring about this?

For I had met Van Every casually

Poems That Live

EASTER

On Easter morning, Let's rejoice,
For Christ our Lord arose;
With wounded hand unlocked the door
Of death after his repose.

The Easter lilies and all Spring flowers
Come blossoming forth so gay;
They seem to tell us, "He is here!"
On this glad Easter day.

Yes, here to live forever more,
No more the darkened tomb;
Because He lives, we, too, shall live
In our eternal home.

So on this glad bright Easter morning
No more we'll hear the passing bell:
"He lives," the world seems to say,
He lives again and all is well!

There are many stories as to who first discovered the food value of coffee. In Europe this important discovery is usually accredited to the inmates of an old monastery in Arabia.

A blind resident of Yorkshire, England, not only runs a poultry farm and judges cattle and sheep, but is fond of dancing and riding to hounds.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

There is nothing surprising in the fact that Associate Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Benjamin N. Cardozo are on the liberal side of every split decision which the United States supreme court renders. They are liberals of long standing.

But one scarcely would have thought that Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone would be so consistently of their faction.

His law firm of Satterlee, Canfield & Stone had a highly conservative practice. Among its clients, for example, was the house of J. P. Morgan—first the elder "JP," then his estate, in the hands of the present magnate. This was not what one would be likely to call a liberalizing professional connection.

COOLIDGE APPOINTEE
Stone was appointed, too, to the attorney general's office and later to the supreme bench by President Coolidge, who was not noted for picking very liberal folk to fill important positions within his gift.

What is more, his confirmation as supreme court justice was in the United States senate by a margin that was a record.

He was generally

ownbey, once a small partner of the elder J. P. Morgan, came all the way from Colorado and waged a formidable campaign to try to show that Stone was unsuitable. He charged that Stone had furnished the legal acumen to flim-flam him, according to his own account, out of approximately $1,000,000, in the Morgan estate's interest.

Colonel Ownbey was armed, besides, with a resolution of the Colorado legislature, expressing sympathy with him. He also had the support of the now defunct People's Legislative Service, a creation, principally, of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, and therefore, naturally, a mighty liberal outfit.

LIBERALS IN SORROW
The extreme liberals believed that they had suffered a severe jolt when the senate confirmed Stone's supreme court appointment.

Some of them voted for him, to be sure.

The late Senator Thomas J. Walsh was one of them. I recall I asked him how he reconciled his ballot with Colonel Ownbey's complaints, and the senator said, "Even if the colonel was flim-flamed, it was done strictly according to legal Hoyle."

done statutorially it was right, as per his reckoning.

THE CASE
Parenthetically: What Stone did, according to Ownbey, as a Morgan lawyer, was to dig up a long-forgotten, obsolete law, and suddenly apply to the colonel's disadvantage.

It was a Delaware law and the Delaware legislature, its attention called to the matter, hastily repealed it.

But that was too late to help Colonel Ownbey.

BELIEVED CONSERVATIVE
All this was of a nature to give Justice Stone an extremely conservative send-off.

As a supreme court justice he is as inaccessible as any hermit, but I interviewed him as attorney general. I thought he was a moderate conservative. Yet here he is lined up, regularly, with radical Justice Cardozo and still more radical Justice Brandeis!

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes has some liberal tradition. Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts is a little bit liberal.

Heaven forbid any liberality in Associate Justices Willis Van Devanter, James C. McReynolds, George Sutherland or Pierce Butler.

But one would not have expected to find Justice Stone in the liberal minority.

Senator Walsh was a genuine liberal; if what was done, was

Five Church Societies Have Sessions Thursday

Two Groups Enjoy Joint Meeting In Evening

The Women's Missionary society and the Young People's Missionary circle of St. Paul's Evangelical church in Washington-twp held a joint meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Wertman in Washington-twp.

Mrs. Merrill Bowman led the devotionals, which opened the meeting after which each organization convened for a short business session.

The program which followed was presented by members of the circle and consisted of a recitation by Marvin Marshall; current events read by Miss Alma Glick; piano solo by Miss Dorothy Glick; recitation, Miss Helen Bowman; reading, Miss Leona Bowman; and a short playlet, "A Case in Court," in which Lawrence Warner portrayed the judge, Marvin Leist the attorney, and Arthur Leist, the witness.

Fifty-four members and guests of the organizations enjoyed the meeting and the lunch served at its close by Mrs. Wertman, Miss Lydia Leist, and Mrs. Viola Glick.

Mrs. George Ieham of Scioto-twp extended the hospitality of her home Thursday afternoon to fifty-six members and guests of the Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid for their monthly session.

Mrs. Alice Ward, president, conducted the business meeting which was followed by a program in charge of Mrs. Lew Foreman.

The entertainment consisted of the following readings: "A Model Church," Mrs. Howard Younklin; "Mrs. Gabbie Attends the Musical," Mrs. Ned Walker; reading by Miss Ruth Brooks; "April Days," Mrs. I. A. Fausnaugh; "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord," Miss Bernice Rowe; "Mr. Potter Asserts His Independence," Mrs. Jennie Stewart.

The meeting closed with prayer and lunch was served by Mrs. Asham and her assisting hostesses, Mrs. Jack Philo, Mrs. Howard Younklin, and Miss Gladys Younklin.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ned Walker, Jackson-twp.

Thirty-three members and guests of the Ladies' Aid society of Christ Lutheran church gathered at the home of Mrs. George List, Jackson-twp, Thursday afternoon for their April session.

A devotional service consisting of group singing, responsive reading of the thirty-second psalm and prayer by Rev. George L. Troutman opened the meeting.

Rev. Troutman conducted Bible questions and the program which followed included a song by Elaine Baker, and readings, "April Days" by Mrs. James Hulise, and "Meditation for the Day" by Mrs. Lyle Davis.

Refreshments were served during a social hour by the hostess and her daughter, Miss Genevieve.

The May session will be held at the home of Mrs. Adam List, Jackson-twp, with Mrs. Meinhard Trump as assisting hostess.

The April meeting of the Dresbach Ladies' Aid was enjoyed Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Guy Drum near Cedar Hill.

Mrs. Val Valentine, president, opened the session with a devotional service. Easter lessons were read.

After a short business meeting a reading was given by Mrs. George Gill and another reading,

Enchanted Cream Sponge
One cupful sifted Swans Down cake flour.
One teaspoonful Rumford baking powder
One-fourth teaspoonful salt
Two eggs, separated
One-half cup cold water
One teaspoonful grated lemon rind
Three-fourths cup granulated sugar
One teaspoonful lemon juice
Two tablespoonsful sugar

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. To egg yolks, add water and lemon rind, and beat with rotary egg beater until light and foamy. Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition; then add flour, in small amounts, beating with beater enough to blend.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout, add lemon juice and two tablespoonsful sugar and beat until stiff enough to hold up in peaks. Fold into flour mixture. Turn into two ungreased deep eight inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for twenty five minutes or until done. Invert on cake rack until cakes are cold. Spread lemon cream filling between layers and sprinkle top with confectioners' sugar. Serve with lemon cream sauce.

with Miss Boggs' mother, Mrs. Irwin Boggs, S. Court-st.

Miss Clara Bradley of Washington, D. C. will arrive Saturday to spend Easter with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bradley, of Pickaway-twp.

Mrs. Warren Henderson and son, Tommy, returned Friday to their home in Ridgefarm, Ill. after a week's visit at The Boggs and with Mrs. Joseph Smith, Sunnyside.

Miss Gertrude Pigman, S. Court-st., is visiting this week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Pigman, in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rarey of Columbus will be week-end guests of Mrs. Rarey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith of Sunnyside.

Etting to Sing for Ben Bernie Next Week

Many Radio Programs to Sing New Songs; What Well-Dressed Man Will Wear on Easter Sunday

Etting, with her famous blues voice, will add the feminine touch to Ben Bernie's program, Tuesday, April 14, from 9 to 9:30. Radio listeners will again be thrilled with the mellow voice that has started on some of the most famous shows in radio history. For weeks Ruth's beautiful singing was featured on a well-known show. Then she sang for 39 weeks on the "College Prom" show. With all this radio work she found time to star in several musical shows, including the Ziegfeld Follies, and then she appeared in several motion pictures.

She has just finished twelve short subjects that are now being released. However, even on a vacation, she cannot escape the fame she has built up in her work. Dashing away to Hawaii to relax, she found herself chosen as the star of the Hawaiian contribution to the new NBC Hollywood studios. Ruth's vast audience will be pleased to hear her sing the songs she has made famous, when the Maestro plays the amiable part of this charming guest.

WHAT THE well-dressed man will wear Easter: Etting along Park avenue, New York, Easter morning will be a full regalia of silk hat and gloves. In his seven and eight stovetop Hicks will have a tiny microphone hooked to a power plant concealed in his hat.

The silk transmitter will appear on an enormous frequency with a power of two-tenths of a watt.

ETTING HICKS will be an amiable fellow stroller wearing in the 1936 Easter parade will be chosen because among his staff his head fitted the large size hat necessary to conceal the microphone.

THE SILK HAT "radio station" is made possible by the latest developments in small microphones. The one weighing only 11 ounces will add very little discomfort to the Easter stroll.

The hat and belt assembly, according to network officials, actually constitutes a miniature broadcasting station.

NOTES—That Thursday night program plans continue to be the guest star policy. Floyd Gibbons, the wandering war correspondent, was the first visiting notable. Rumania and Holland are "radio wavelength" war. Netherlands claims Rumanian station BOD interferes with Dutch broadcasts and may retaliate. You may soon hear Benny Goodman's unit in a one-hour "Dance Parade." If you are track and field minded, the Penn Relays will be broadcast over networks, April 24 and 25. Sing Wong (could that be his real name?) was a featured singer on the latest Fred Allen program. Who said they would like to have an "easy" job as that of Amos and Andy? The studio in which they broadcast from their Palm Springs, Cal., vacation spot is three stories above the hotel and the boys must climb up and down 261 steps to do their

DOG TRIAL DRAWING IS SET FOR 8 TONIGHT

Events Begin at 7 a. m. Saturday on Immell Farm Near Kinderhook

Officials of the Pickaway-go Bird Dog club will meet in the American hotel at 8 p. m. Friday to make drawings for the two-day field trials opening Saturday at 7 a. m. on the Immell farm near Kinderhook.

Byron Eby, president, B. S. Miller, secretary, and Ralph Wallace, treasurer, will be in charge of the drawings. They expect the largest entry list in the history of local field trials.

Glen Parsons, Lancaster, is field marshal and the course will be laid out by a committee comprised of Eby, Charles Carter and Wallace. George Hunter, Newark, will be starter and the birds will be released by Sam Scott, Walter Richards and Clarence Francis, conservation officer. The horses will be in charge of Charles Carter and John Street.

Waters, Neymeir Come

Judges will be Don Waters, Elmore, O., and Ollie Neymeir, Prospect, O. Both have served as judges at former Pickaway-go trials.

Three open stakes will be run with 70 per cent of the entry fee divided, 50, 30 and 20 percent. A large trophy will be given as a grand prize for the winner of the open all age stake and trophies will be given also for first, second and third prizes in the junior all-age stake. These trophies and fees for the dogs at the trials have been donated by the John W. Fishelman & Sons Co.

The Ballston-Purina Co. recently offered the club money to purchase additional birds. The state has furnished $5 birds for the events so the company made a donation of $10.

Entrance fees for the events follow: Open all age, $15; open junior all age, $10; open puppy, $10; amateur all age, $5, and junior all age, $2.

Lunch will be served at the grounds by ladies of the Mt. Pleasant church.

PENN'S RELAYS TO OFFER TEST TOWARD OLYMPIC

PHILADELPHIA, April 10. — (UP)—The 1936 Penn Relays are being dressed up in fine style, with four Olympic events listed for collegiate track competition.

The relays to be held on Franklin Field April 24 and 25 are expected to attract more than 1,000 crack athletes from various sections of the country. But the program has been given more zest with the addition of the 3,000 meter steeplechase the 400-meter hurdles, the hop-step and jump, and the 100-meter event—all standard Olympic contests.

Usually, the first three events are contested only in the National A. A. U. outdoor championships and seldom are run by collegiate tracksters in a college meet.

Dash Entries Limited

The 100-meter dash was inaugurated last year to take the place of the 100-yard run, and still another innovation has been scheduled for 1936. It is the limitation of entries in the century dash. Heretofore, the event has been open to all, but this year, runners may compete by invitation only.

H. Jamison Swarts, manager of the carnival, hopes to limit the entries in the century dash to five or eight men. If such strict limitation is possible, only two preliminary heats would be necessary.

This, according to Swarts, would make the race more worthwhile, and tend to give the event nationwide importance.

Owens vs. Peacock

Two of the outstanding stars of the country—Jesse Owens, Ohio State negro star, and Eulace Peacock, Temple dash man—already have been entered in the 100 meters.

Their duel alone is expected to be one of the highlights of the 1936 relays. Peacock and Owens, who also are outstanding men in the broad jump, have met numerous times on the track without either establishing definite superiority.

In the relays it will be different, however. Each runner will be vying for Olympic recognition and the relay event is seen as the opportunity for just that.

Minister's 13th Year Unlucky

BOWLING GREEN, O.—The Rev. H. K. Bushkuckel, pastor of St. Aloysius Church, never had experience with "unlucky 13" omens until lightning struck and destroyed the belfry of his church. The flash caused $4,000 damage a few hours before the minister began his 13th year in the pastorate.

About This And That In Many Sports

Birds Need Help

Any person who has carefully read the probably lineup of the Columbus Red Birds for their opening game Sunday with St. Paul is certain the Birdies need some help before they try to go anywhere—Behind the plate seems to be the chief trouble with the Birdies with Chervinko and Owen below the par of the A. A.—The hurling corps needs some brushing up with too few dependables—The infield and outfield appear O. K. although Eddie Montague, in the janitor's estimation, cannot make the grade at shortstop to the satisfaction of Columbus fans—Weintraub at first, Cuccinello at second and Guttridge at third seem good enough, while Delker may oust Montague from the shortfield spot.

Sportmen Hoping

Sportmen are hoping for good weather for their two-day dog field trials starting Saturday morning. There'll be some keen dogs in the competition.

Cummings Tries Track

Wild Bill Cummings, winner of the Indianapolis speedway sweepstakes in 1934 and one of the prime favorites among fans, has already tested the revamped track—Cummings traveled it for 1,000 miles in a standard automobile and declared it faster than ever—Cummings will drive for Mike Boyle of Chicago in the big race.

Dodgers Strange

Those Brooklyn Dodgers promise to have one of the strangest outfields in the major leagues. This is not exactly in the line of news, because it seems that Brooklyn never has been without quaint people in the outfield, but it just goes to show that Casey Stengel is carrying on where Uncle Wilbert Robinson left off.

When the baseball (and debating) season begins for Brooklyn this year with a game in the Polo Grounds, April 14, the outfield of the Flatbush Fusiliers will more than likely be: Fred Lindstrom, left; Johnny Cooney, center, and Oscar Eckhardt, right. The outfield is 100 per cent cast-off. Lindstrom, who has something of a reputation as a clubhouse lawyer, is an ex-Cub. Cooney is former left-handed pitcher for the Boston Braves (now Bees), and Eckhardt is a 32-year-old veteran coming back to the majors from the Missions club of the Pacific Coast league.

Scribbings

Dick Coffman, Giants' pitcher, is the father of three boys. Mama Coffman reads them the box scores at Athens, Ala.

Walter Johnson, Jr., son of the old fire-baller, will open the season with a semi-pro team at Pulaski, Va., after having received a try-out with the A's and some advice

Credit Joe Di Maggio with a master stroke in diplomacy. In an interview the other day the Yack-kee recruit says the major league umpires (working with the teams in the south) seem to be much better guessers than those in the Coast league.

They cheered Bill Klem when he was introduced before a game in St. Petersburg the other day. Ethan Allen, Phil's outfielder, is writing a book. One of the tough assignments of the year is

TONY CANZONERI IN TRAINING FOR M'LARNIN FIGHT

NEW YORK, April 10. — (UP)—Lightweight Champion Tony Canzoneri of New York, having averaged two defeats by Johnny Jadick, confidently began making plans today to conquer Jimmy McLarnin, ex-welterweight champion, when they meet at Madison Square Garden May 8.

Canzoneri won a unanimous 10-round decision from Jadick in a non-title bout last night at the St. Nicholas arena. He won nine rounds and had Jadick on the floor twice. In the eighth Jadick was down for a count of five and in the tenth he went down for a count of four. Jadick weighed 140, Canzoneri 136 1/2.

Jadick, who won the junior welterweight title from Canzoneri in 1932 and successfully defended it against Tony six months later, appeared to be a washed-up fighter last night. The crowd booed Canzoneri for not finishing him.

OHIO STATE TO TANGLE WITH ILLINI BALL CLUB

COLUMBUS, April 10. — (UP)—Ohio State was to open its Western conference baseball season here today when it played the first of two games with the University of Illinois.

In non-conference competition Ohio has won two contests and dropped five. Illinois divided the only two games it has played.

The second game with Illinois will be played tomorrow.

lyn will be in the Dodger's lineup today when they face the New York Yankees, to the first of a 3-game series.

He is Louie Frey, and he will be at second base instead of shortstop, the position he played in 1934. The rest of the Dodgers lineup has been drawn from the majors, the minors and the colleges.

REMEMBER WHEN?

An auto tire blowout was a front page news item.

In July, 1912, the following story appeared in the local newspaper: "Sargeant Bros., who have a piano store on E. Main-st., were automobiling and at the intersection of Main and Court-sts their machine threw a tire, which burst, making a report like a cannon. The machine was returned to the garage with one wheel tireless."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray, who met such wide favor as a light romance team in their first Paramount picture, "The Gilded Lily," are brought together again in the new comedy-romance, "The Bride Comes Home", which opens today at the Cliftona theatre.

"The Bride Comes Home" is as original story written especially for Miss Colbert by Claude Binyon, and though it resembles "The Gilded Lily" in that it treats of the problems confronting young lovers of today, in originality makes it one of the most amusing screen farces of the year.

On the same bill is Zane Grey's action-packed "Nevada".
